Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-23, 27-55 and 59-64, drawn to a method of testing potential agonists and antagonists in cells expressing a hyperpolarization-activated cation channel, classification dependent upon structure of recited compounds.
- II. Claims 24-32, 51 and 56-58, drawn to a method of testing potential agonists and antagonists in cells expressing more than one hyperpolarization-activated cation channel, or expressing a fusion protein of hyperpolarization-activated cation channel subunits, classification dependent upon structure of recited compound.
- III. Claim 65, drawn to a kit for testing potential agonists and antagonists in cells expressing a hyperpolarization-activated cation channel, classification dependent upon structure of recited compound.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Although there are no provisions under the section for "Relationship of Inventions" in M.P.E.P. § 806.05 for Inventive Groups that are directed to different methods and products, restriction is deemed to be proper because these products constitute patentably distinct inventions for the following reasons: Inventions I and II are independent and distinct, each from the other, because the methods are practiced with materially different process steps for materially different purposes and each method requires a non-coextensive search because of different starting materials, process steps and goals.

Inventions I and II are related to Invention III as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05 (h)). In the instant case the kit can be used for other methods, and the cells can be used to express any channel or receptor.

Species Election

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed Inventive Groups I-III. Applicant must select a species of hyperpolarization-activated cation channel from the following:

A) Choose one:

- a) HCN1,
- b) HCN2,
- c) HCN3,
- d) HCN4, or
- e) KAT1.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1 and 33 are found to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species (for example, other hyperpolarization-activated cation channel subunits in a heterotrimeric channel) which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the grounds that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each group is unique, and because each protein in Groups (A) requires a completely separate search, as well as by their different classifications, divergent subject matter and different search requirements, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

In response to this requirement, applicants must elect from Groups I through III, and must additionally elect a species of hyperpolarization-activated cation channel. Applicant is advised that in order for the reply to this requirement to be complete it must include an election of the invention and species to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 C.F.R. 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 C.F.R. 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 C.F.R. 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 C.F.R. 1.17(i).
